DIXON JUDGE'S
DECISION ENDS
MINERS' FIGHTBoth Sides In Controversy Accept Edwards' Decree

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 9—(AP)—Burying the hatchet they have wielded very effectively in the factional war of Illinois miners, Harry Fishwick, president, and John H. Walker, president-elect of the Illinois Mine Workers today dismissed all remaining contempt proceedings against international officials, and called on them to join in a call to the rank and file to "end all war fare."

This development follows action of Circuit Judge Harry Edwards of Dixon in signing a final decree last Friday, declaring the Indianapolis officials the heads of the United Mine Workers, and the insurgent heads of the Illinois miners the authorized officials of District 12.

"To continue this fight," a statement issued by Joseph Londrigan, chief counsel for the Illinois miners, said, "would mean the absolute destruction of the United Mine Workers of America. Any man or group of men upon either side of this controversy who insist or advise upon a continuance of this internal warfare within the organization can only do so because of personal ambitions or a deliberate desire to destroy the organization."

"Now that it has been determined who the legal officers of both the district and international organization are, any attempt to call a convention of any kind or to participate or advocate the calling of the same will be an act of secession and an open attempt to form a dual organization. This fight originated in order to prevent the illegal removal of the duly elected officers of District No. 12."

"District No. 12 has never throughout this struggle attempted to leave the United Mine Workers of America but did everything possible as a part of that organization to preserve their right to elect their own officers and to conduct their own affairs. They will now comply with the decision of the Circuit Court."

"All provisional officers and representatives have been removed from Illinois except sub-District No. 9 whose charter was revoked before this controversy arose and in which an election will be held in the very near future so that the membership of that sub-district may select their own officers."

"As evidence of good faith upon the part of District No. 12 I am today dismissing all contempt proceedings in the Circuit Court of Sangamon county."

GOV. EMMERSON
PLEADS FOR TAX
LAW REVISION

Says Taxation Of Real Estate In Illinois Is Too Heavy

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Springfield, Ill., Mar. 9—(UP)—Prosperity's return to America might be aided to a certain extent by easing the burden on the land owner through adoption of a system equalizing distribution of taxes, Governor L. L. Emmerson told the United Press today.

Without specifically citing any examples beyond the confines of his own state, Illinois' 67-year-old banker declared it his belief that an important step in regaining business normally must come through the finding of some method which will bring relief to tillers of the soil and home owners in those places where they are paying the cost of government out of proportion to their investment as compared with the holders of intangible property.

Using Illinois as an illustration, Emmerson declared that real estate is handicapped by being forced to pay most of the tax and warned that "wherever this situation exists steps should be taken to equalize the tax system" so that "land owning and farming may be made more profitable than in taxes may not be so high and thus allow the land investor a better return on his money," and intangibles be made to pay their fair share of governmental costs. The latter, he said, is now paying ten per cent of the total tax.

This, he declared, would tend to loosen up the present economic conditions "in Illinois, at least," and help to pave the way back to normalcy.

Tax Problem Grows
In Illinois, where Emmerson ranks as the leader of the normal majority Republican party by reason of his office and because of his activity and political acumen displayed since the day he cast his first vote, and where he served his apprenticeship on the subject of taxation as a member of the general property tax and the uniform rule of assessment. It assumes that it is possible for assessing officers to discover and assess equitably all property, regardless of its nature, and takes it for granted that all property represents the same degree of tax paying ability.

"Sixty years ago this was not an unreasonable assumption in Illinois for practically all of the wealth of the state was invested in tangible property such as farms, homes, business buildings, shops and stores. Then, such tokens of wealth as stocks, bonds, mortgages and other securities were practically unknown."

"But this ceased to be true long ago and for at least forty years well-informed men seeing real estate and other tangible property bearing a disproportionate share of the cost of government, have been in favor of removing the limitations on the taxing power of the legislature and thus preparing the way for a new revenue system."

Pays 80 Per Cent Of Tax
Today Emmerson declared, real estate in Illinois is paying 80 per cent of the total tax burden. Intangible personal property, he declared, "which is at least equal in value to the value of all real estate, is paying but ten per cent of the taxes."

"Millions of dollars of income-producing property is not taxed at all for state local purposes," he said.

As a result of this, Emmerson declared that Illinois is involved in a serious financial crisis.

Because of the complicated tax system, Chicago, he said, is behind in its revenue payments to the state, it still owing approximately $3,500,000 for 1928 and about $13,000,000 for 1929.

The delay, he said, was caused by a reassessment of real estate.

"This delay postponed collection of taxes and so seriously effected Chicago's financial situation that a special session of the state legislature was necessary to enable passage of laws so that it could raise funds to properly function," he said.

"And the raising of these funds has now piled up deficits which will take Chicagoans the next twenty years to pay off."

Emmerson, while not suggesting just how to go about solving this tax problem, cited systems employed in Pennsylvania, New York, Kentucky and Wisconsin.

Pennsylvania, he said, places stocks bonds notes and other forms of intangible wealth in a separate class upon which a low rate is imposed. New York, he declared, has adopted an income tax in lieu of a tax on intangibles. Kentucky, he said, also has a low tax rate on intangibles.

Emmerson believes that the best way Illinois can deal with its tax problem is to revise the Constitution so that the legislature may have

African Lily Now
In Bloom In Dixon

Mr. and Mrs. William Wiener, 718 First street, possess a very rare plant, which today is at the height of its brilliancy. It is commonly known as an African lily or amorphophallus rivieri. From a bulb about six inches across in an open vessel without water or earth, a shoot about two inches in thickness grows at the rate of about five inches daily to a height of five feet. About three feet from the bulb a beautiful wine-colored flower appears and in the center of this, the stamen continues a two-foot growth. The odor is far from pleasant and is very strong.

The plant attains an age of four years before flowering and then blossoms the single bloom which lasts about one week every winter. It then dies and in the spring is set out in the yard and becomes a shrub. Very few of these African lilies are known in this section.

ALL EAST-WEST
ROADS IN COUNTY
BLOCKED BY SNOW

Scores Of Cars Are Stalled
Here; Thaw Awaited
To Clear Roads

Scores of motorists, truck drivers and salesmen were forced to remain in Dixon over the week-end, because of impassable highways, the result of Saturday's blizzard. The Chicago Motor Club offices were open throughout the day Sunday, furnishing information to the large number of strangers who were marooned in Dixon by the storm. Hundreds of calls were received yesterday and today and the office was crowded by those who sought to continue to other points. District Manager Clark Hess was in touch with the travel bureau of the head offices in Chicago, furnishing information as soon as highways were opened.

This morning there was not a clear highway to Chicago, the direction in which the majority of the marooned drivers sought to proceed. Roads through the county were drifted shut early Saturday evening and remained closed today. In some places the drifts were reported higher than the fences and there were indications that it would require several days before they would be opened.

East-West Roads Closed.
County Superintendent of Highways Fred Leake stated at noon today that all east and west roads throughout the county were closed and in many places it appeared that only a thaw would open the roads. All of the county's equipment used in opening roads was at work today, clearing deep drifts on more important roads.

About 11 o'clock today, Chicago-bound traffic, was being sent south to Ottawa and thence east over state highway route 7. Many auto and truck drivers who were marooned here over the week-end were starting east on this route.

The Evening Telegraph delivery car, which makes daily trips to Amboy, Mendota, Compton, West Brooklyn and Paw Paw was stalled in deep snow Saturday evening and Lucius Thompson and James O'Malley were forced to spend Sunday and part of today in Compton. The car was still buried in the deep snow.

Litsinger Called Before Grand Jury

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 9—(UP)—Edward Litsinger, prominent Chicago politician, is expected to give his version of the famous faro game played here in January in which Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blackledge, former Chicago Revenue collector, lost $50,000 loaned her by Litsinger, to the Sangamon county grand jury here Friday.

Service on Litsinger and his nephew, Fred Litsinger, also of Chicago, was obtained in Chicago last week. State's Attorney H. E. Fullenwider announced. The subpoenas were sent to Chicago, Fullenwider said, after he had announced that the Litsingers would be given an opportunity to tell their stories to the grand jury.

Litsinger at the time of the faro game, which he alleged was a swindle, declared he loaned Mrs. Blackledge the money at her request to "complete a business deal." Later he is said to have issued a statement in which he accused Mrs. Blackledge of being a party to the swindle and announced that he would present the case to the local grand jury. Failure to hear from him resulted in Fullenwider causing the subpoenas to be issued.

Boys Tie Unpopular
Playmate To Tracks

Evansville, Ind., Mar. 9—(UP)—William Brinkman, Jr., 8-year-old, was recovering today from shock and fright experienced when four playmates who said they "didn't like him," bound his security with rope and left him on a Northwestern railroad track.

William struggled and cried for almost half an hour, but neither could quell himself loose nor roll off the track. Then he heard a train coming and by an almost superhuman effort managed to roll over the rails, off the track and down a steep embankment. The train roared past a minute later.

A railroad employee found William about 25 minutes later and took him home, hysterical.

The four boys whom William named and who admitted to police his story was true, are only a little older than he. They said their only reason was that they "didn't like him."

The women's affirmative team of the University debated with Northwestern university on Thursday evening and was also victorious.

Following the Illinois-Purdue debate, a reception was held in the faculty lounge of the Union building at Lafayette, Ind. At the reception, Wiley, judge of the debate, who is head of the public speaking department at Ohio State University, analyzed the case and explained why he had so awarded the decision. He said that it was a close, good debate and that everything was a tie until the second negative rebuttal when things turned in favor of Illinois. After the second negative rebuttal little was said on either side to greatly influence the case. Miss Poole was the second negative rebuttal speaker for Illinois.

Priceless Collection Musical Instruments

What is probably the finest collection of four musical instruments in actual use today, is in the possession of the Gordon String Quartet, which is to play a concert here on Mar. 16th M. E. Church at 8 o'clock P. M. Realizing that every stringed instrument varies in the subject way from every other, the members of the Gordon String Quartet have chosen their instruments to match each other as exactly as do the collective temperaments of their owners. The result is an unparalleled purity and beauty of tone and a high aggregate of insurance premiums. For the working apparatus of the Gordon String Quartet is one of the most valuable of its kind in the world.

Mr. Gordon's violin is the famous instrument formerly known by the name of its possessor, Tom Taylor, one of the ten most perfect Stradivari in the world, and made by the master in 1732, when he was ninety years of age. Among those who have used it are Paganini, Ludwig Spohr and Joseph Joachim. Joachim, founder of what in his day grew to be the foremost string quartet in the world, wished to buy the Tom Taylor, but the instrument was not removed from the collection it graced until the death of Mrs. Taylor, when Mr. Gordon purchased it for $40,000.

Edwin Eidler, the quartet's second violinist, plays an instrument made by Nicola Amati, the teacher of Stradivari. This violin is recognized as one of the finest of all Amati's and is appraised by experts at between $20,000 and $25,000.

Joseph Vieland plays a viola made by Gasparo da Salo, the founder of the renowned Cermona school of violin makers, a school which included Amati, Stradivari and Guarneri. Its value is $25,000.

Nahum Benditzky's cello is one of the best known to those made by Guadagnini. It was formerly a part of the Rudolph Wurliizer collection and is worth between $25,000 and $30,000.

WILL ENTERTAIN ON THURSDAY AND FRIDAY

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Durkes, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lager, Mrs. C. H. Bokhof, stand solidly together on this question and Miss Grace Steel will entertain on Thursday and Friday evenings.

States will not give us the machinery we are asking with which to safeguard the future of our children, that the women will go into the Senatorial elections as women, and that they will make known the stand of any man running for the United States Senate who refuses to publicly announce that he will vote for the adherence of the United States to the protocols of the World Court; to treaties of arbitration without weakening by reservations; to the changing of our laws of neutrality so we will not be a menace to the peace of the world."

Federation Stands For World Court

Washington, D. C., Mar. 9.—The General Federation of Women's Clubs has long been an advocate of United States adherence to the World Court, having passed its first resolution on this matter at the Council Meeting held in 1923. Since then it has reaffirmed its stand three times.

Mrs. Ben Hooper of Wisconsin, Chairman of the Department of International Relations of the General Federation, in discussing the present situation and interest of the Federation in this great question says:

"We learned in the last war that war will not tend war, and that, no matter who wins, everybody loses. We know you cannot put an end to war without machinery for settling international troubles through peaceful means. We must have a court where we can take our legal troubles to be settled; we must have real treaties of arbitration which have not been so weakened by reservations that they are worthless. We must have treaties of conciliation; we must mend our laws of neutrality that we will not be a menace to the peace of the world. Since presenting the Peace of Paris to the world and United States ratifying it with but one dissenting vote, we must, to preserve the honor of our nation, have all of these pieces of machinery through international troubles may be settled."

"The two great political parties of this country put as planks in their platforms, that the United States should enter the World Court with reservations; Hughes reservations, which reservations were:

(a) That the United States should join the Court without joining the League;

(b) That we should have a voice equal with other countries in electing judges;

(c) That we should pay our share of the expense of the Court;

(d) That we should withdraw when we wished and that the Statute should not be amended without our consent."

"That United States saw fit to add another reservation:

(e) That the World Court shall not hand down an advisory opinion on any question where the United States has an interest or claims to have an interest."

"They then asked admission to the World Court with these five reservations, the vote being 76-17."

"The member have granted all the World Court reservations asked for by the United States Senate. Under the circumstances it should not have taken any more time than it would require for a roll call, for the United States to have become a member of the World Court. In place of doing straight-forward things, regardless of what anyone's personal prejudice might be, the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate has seen fit to put to the Senate the protocols of the World Court, have not permitted the Senate to have an opportunity to vote upon it."

"It is useless for the United States to protest that they want world peace when their government will not permit them to have even the first small piece of machinery through which international troubles can be settled."

"The women of this country have been quite severely criticised because of the lack of interest they have taken in politics since they secured the vote. There has been no great nonpartisan question where there could be a test made of where the woman's vote would stand. There is before us today the greatest question that the United States has ever faced. It is not partisan; it is whether these United States are going to sit calmly by and permit a handful of men to deprive us of our right to face the world as an honorable nation doing our part in the effort to make a reality of the treaty we presented to the world."

"I believe the time has come when the women of this country will stand solidly together on this question and if the Senate of the United States will not give us the machinery we are asking with which to safeguard the future of our children, that the women will go into the Senatorial elections as women, and that they will make known the stand of any man running for the United States Senate who refuses to publicly announce that he will vote for the adherence of the United States to the protocols of the World Court; to treaties of arbitration without weakening by reservations; to the changing of our laws of neutrality so we will not be a menace to the peace of the world."

UNDERNOURISHED LOVE.

Life is made up mostly of backstage scenes. People are in masquerade when they stand in front of the footlights.

And that's the way it was with Harriet Schneider of Chicago. She had a fur collar and cuffs on her winter coat, and her beret was as cheaply smart as anybody's. She and her mother made punchboards at home for a factory and they played bridge sometimes, when boys whom Harriet knew dropped in. Of course, her father had been out of work for six months, but Alberta, who was 21, had an office job. Albert, 16, was a mechanic apprentice. Life wasn't especially interesting, but it wasn't tragic, the people thought.

But the other day Harriet shot her father. She wanted to kill him, she is saying. She isn't sorry that she did.

For in the drab little house there had been unhappiness for a long, long time. Albert Schneider, according to Harriet, had been drinking. He came home and started to abuse his wife. He made accusations against both the mother and daughter, and then asked for his clothes, saying that he was leaving the house.

Harriet packed them but she slipped her father's gun in her pocket. When he started to attack her mother again she pulled the trigger. And that shot carried the scene from behind scenes to the center of the stage.

Every child has a right to a home which is bounded by love and laughter and unselfishness. Every little boy and girl who does not listen with rapturous eyes for sound of homing footsteps when the day is done, has missed a priceless heritage.

Children who have unselfish devotion and wise counselorship seldom kill their parents. But those who have been wounded and outraged, over and over again, until their sense of right and wrong is as tangled as neglected woodland path, sometimes reach the point where a flaming anger, or a deadly coolness seizes them. It takes such a little time to press a trigger.

And instead of righting a wrong another one has been committed.

Harriet Schneider did not shoot her father from a sense of chivalry. She thought she was protecting her mother, but there was another motive, deeper than that. She was revolting against home conditions, but she didn't know it.

Mrs. Schneider has expressed no grief over her husband's death. She, too, had suffered from his unkindness.

The very fact that three children had to be reared in a home so void of gracious qualities makes the situation more pitiful. Childhood has a right to fathers and mothers who love and respect each other. When the environment fails, it isn't the fault of the child who never had the right nourishment. Trees can't grow straight and strong when the soil is barren.

SCIENCE VS. HISTORY.

Ambitious biographers, by their relentless researches, are not the only ones bent on exposing the unreliability of traditions we have come to associate with the makers of American history. Science, it now appears, lends a helping hand.

At the University of Wisconsin the other day, Dr. J. H. Mathews, an expert in ballistics, announced that Daniel Boone, that hardy pioneer whose hair-raising exploits among the Indians thrilled us as youths, was really a terrible shot.

The smooth-bore guns they had in those days, the professor contends, weren't at all conducive to accurate shooting. So Dan'l couldn't possibly have done all those things attributed to him by the writers. Thus another tradition bites the dust.

If we must concede that this colorful Indian was a bum shot, most of us will rightfully continue to regard him as a good scout. That is, unless additional research reveals anything to the contrary!

Congress just passed an act making the Star-Spangled Banner our official national anthem. You'll simply have to stand for this.

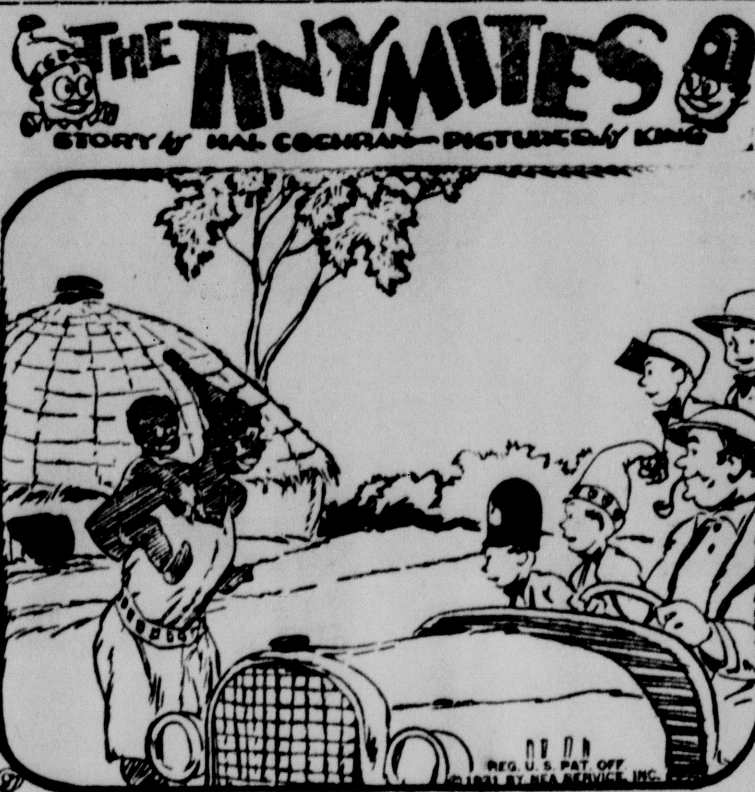

Johnny Weissmuller, swimming champ, who recently married a Broadway beauty, probably regards this his stroke of good fortune.

Whoever said you cannot get anywhere at a cowl apparently forgets the swimmer.

Smile: As likely as the appearance of Gandhi in a full dress suit.

A publishing house soon to open in New York will issue books without the names of the authors. This undoubtedly will discourage writers contemplating racy biographies of the great.

Sophomores at the University of California are engaged in a whisker-growing contest, which promises to be quite a hair-raising event.

"How funny they are over here," said Clowdy. "Seems to me they fear a lot of things that we don't mind. I'm glad this isn't home. Of wondrous things we get our fill and every time it brings a thrill. I 'spose 'twill always be that way, wherever we may roam."

The Travel Man then said, "Well, say, I think we'd best be on our way. The Zulus have a lot of things you haven't seen. We'll walk all through the village, where we'll view fine sights and get fresh air. Try not to miss a single thing. Just keep your eyesight keen."

"Don't worry," Scouty then replied. "I'm thrilled at everything that's spied. I never will forget this place. The natives treat us great."

GRANT'S COMMAND

On March 9, 1864, General Ulysses S. Grant was appointed commander-in-chief of the entire Union armies.

His appointment came after his success against the south in the battles of Shiloh, Vicksburg, Port Donelson and Chattanooga. Grant's first move as commander was to forego his original plan of trying to lead his western army to Atlanta and the sea. Instead, he assumed personal charge of the army of the Potomac. At this time the federal forces united to make its memorable march against the south.

The appointment of Grant to supreme command of the federal armies crowned the military career of a man who entered West Point against his will, and who admitted in his writings that military life was distasteful to him.

What the NEW HUMIDOR PACK *means to Camel Smokers **

COMPARE a package of Camels with any other cigarette and note the difference in the technique of packing.

Note that Camels are completely enclosed in an outer transparent cover of moisture-proof cellophane and sealed air-tight at every point.

We call this outer shell the Humidor Pack. It differs from the ordinary cellophane pack and while it is egg-shell thin, it means a lot in terms of cigarette enjoyment.

It means, for instance, that evaporation is checkmated and that Salt Lake City can now have as good Camels as Winston-Salem.

While Camels are made of a blend of the choicest Turkish and mellowest domestic tobaccos, it is highly important, if you are to get full benefit of this quality, that these cigarettes come to you with their natural moisture content still intact.

The Humidor Pack insures that. It prevents the fine tobaccos of Camels from drying out and losing any of their delightful flavor.

Aside from cheap tobacco, two factors in a cigarette can mar the smoker's pleasure:

Fine particles of peppery dust if left in the tobacco by inefficient cleaning methods sting and irritate delicate throat membrane.

Dry tobacco, robbed of its natural moisture by scorching or by evaporation gives off a hot smoke that burns the throat with every inhalation.

We take every precaution against these factors here at Winston-Salem.

A special vacuum cleaning apparatus removes dust and now the new Humidor Pack prevents dryness.

Check the difference yourself

It is a very simple matter to check the difference between Humidor Packed Camels and other ordinary dry cigarettes.

First of all you can feel the difference as you roll the cigarettes between your fingers. Camels are full-bodied and pliable. A dry cigarette crumbles under pressure and sheds tobacco.

If you will hold a cigarette to each ear and roll them with your fingers you can actually hear the difference.

The real test of course is to smoke them. And here's where the new Humidor Pack proves a real blessing to the smoker.

As you inhale the cool, fragrant smoke from a Camel you get all the mildness and magic of the fine tobaccos of which it is blended.

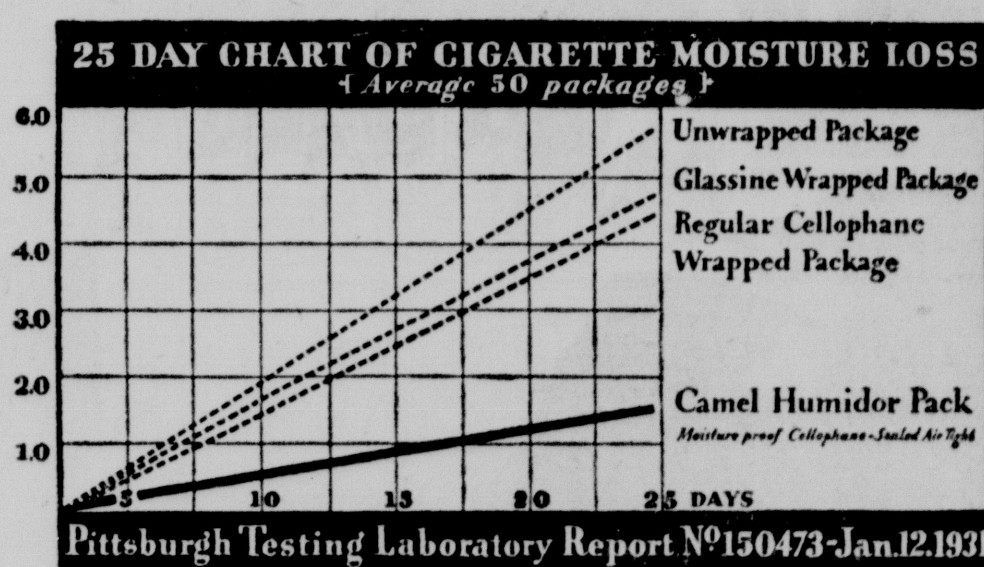

But when you draw in the hot smoke from a dried cigarette see how flat and brackish it is by comparison and how harsh it is to your throat.

If you are a regular Camel smoker you have already noticed what proper condition of the cigarette means.

But if you haven't tried Camels in the new Humidor Pack you have a new adventure with Lady Nicotine in store.

Switch your affections for just one day, then go back to your old love tomorrow if you can.

DESERT PLANT YIELDS RUBBER FOR INDUSTRY

Mexican Shrub Causes A Boom In California Valley

By COL. ROLIN G. WATKINS (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Salinas, Cal.—(UP)—The day of "infant industries" has returned, and the national congress has recognized California's newest—the production of rubber from a domesticated form of Mexican desert shrub called Guayule and pronounced "wy-oo-lay."

In the Salinas valley 6,000 acres have been planted to this shrub. Recently the International Rubber Company opened its $150,000 plant here for the reduction of the shrub into commercial rubber. Daily production runs to 15,000 pounds.

This is the first plant of its kind in the United States, although the company has four others (not in operation at present) in Old Mexico.

The new plant here was not placed in operation, however, until the congress, by an amendment to the biennial army supplies bill, removed rubber from the list of specially-exempted articles which the secretary of war was not compelled to buy within the confines of the nation.

Not New Plan

Making of rubber from Guayule is nothing new, according to George H. Carnahan, head of Intercontinental Rubber Company and subsidiaries.

For more than a quarter of a century his company has been manufacturing rubber from the shrub taken from its native areas in northern Mexico and southern Texas. Revolutions of 1912 and 1920 handicapped production. Then the low price of rubber in the past few years caused the company to close its Mexican factories completely.

Realizing that the growth of the wild shrub could furnish a supply only for a certain number of years, Carnahan and his aids conceived the idea of domesticating it outside of Mexico. In 1919 they planted an experimental plot here, five acres in extent. This year 2,000 acres of the shrub will be cut from the fields of the company in this valley to be reduced to rubber.

A similar acreage will be planted each year until the price of rubber, or the demand for it, will create another plant.

The process of production from the seeding of plant beds within an immense nursery, to the final delivery of the rubber in 200-pound blocks ready for the market, has been completely mechanized.

Labor Problem

In this way Intercontinental Rubber Company, which also owns immense plantations of hevea rubber trees in Sumatra, Dutch East Indies, has been able to solve the labor problem. One American laborer at the going wage, can produce just as much rubber from the guayule shrub in one year as can 15 Sumatran coolies drawing the same amount of money.

Together 10 implements, each of which has been especially devised and developed, are used in the process of growth and delivery to the factory. These include a seed gatherer, topper and cutter in the nursery, a six-row planter setting the plants in rows, six-row cultivator, severing the roots at nine inches underground when ready for harvesting, duster to relieve the shrubs of dirt, windrower and harvester.

Four-Hour Job

This last instrument picks up the shrubs from the ground and reduces them to small bits before they are hauled into the factory. From the time they reach the factory until delivery of the 200-pound block of rubber is exactly four hours.

Four years are required for the plants to develop. They may be left in the ground for 10 years, with an increased rubber content each year.

According to Carnahan, America's normal rubber requirements total 1,000,000,000 pounds. This far exceeds the present possibilities of domestic production. However, his company has made experiments which prove that vast Southern California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas areas will produce the shrub at a profit.

At present America imports 61 per cent of the world's rubber supply, 31 per cent of which is turned into tires and tubes for motor-propelled vehicles.

The new product, guayule, is not a rubber substitute, is not synthetic, but is of exactly the same chemical content as the hevea rubber from the middle eastern areas.

JURY DISAGREED

Marion, Ill., Mar. 7.—(AP)—After fifteen hours of deliberation without a verdict, a jury which heard the trial of Paul Higgins, 23, for assault with intent to murder a policeman, Pat Murphy, in the holdup of a Herin restaurant, was dismissed this morning.

Murphy, from the witness stand, identified Higgins as the marked bandit by whom he was shot in a cafe.

PILES GO QUICK

Without Salves or Cutting
Itching, bleeding, protruding piles are caused by bad circulation of the blood in the affected parts. The parts become weak, flabby, almost dead. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause—that's why salves, suppositories and cutting fail. Dr. Leonard's prescription, HEM-ROID, succeeds because it removes congestion, restores circulation, heals and strengthens the diseased parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record of quickly ending even piles of long standing, that Rowland's Pharmacy says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your pile agony or money back—Adv.

After the program and games several tables of cards were arranged and a pleasant time was enjoyed until a late hour.

James W. Larabee, of Earlville, widely known in Paw Paw, aged 66, widely known auctioneer, died late Thursday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Hannah Purdue, at Des Plaines. He had been ailing for some time with a complication of diseases.

Born on a farm near Earlville, April 23, 1865, he spent his entire life near Earlville with the exception of one year spent in Iowa. He was widely known as a breeder of fancy red cattle, which he exhibited at many county and state fairs, winning many valuable prizes. For many years he was also an auctioneer. Surviving are nine children, five daughters and four sons, Mrs. Purdue of Des Plaines, who taught in the Paw Paw schools for several years; Mrs. Goldie Woods, Earlville; Mrs. Emmeline Burnett, Waterman; Miss Birdie Larabee, Amboy; John, Howard Samuel and James Larabee, all of Earlville. Willard Peterson of Duport, Indiana, is visiting at his nephews, John Urey and family.

The choir of the Earlville Presbyterian church will appear in Paw Paw next Tuesday evening in a most amusing musical skit entitled "The Tale of a Hat."

The production shows a choir in full swing at practice and illustrates the damage a simple piece of headgear may do, and what perfect harmony a discord may make. The piece was given in Earlville recently and held the audience convulsed. The singers, fifteen in number come with no remuneration. No admittance charge will be made. An offering will be taken to defray expenses of music. Presbyterian church next Tuesday evening, March 10, at 7:30.

The public is most cordially invited. Dr. E. L. Clark and wife have returned from Chicago after a long and losing fight to save the eyesight of Mrs. Clark. The last attempt was the removal of the eyeball which has been giving trouble in order to help save the other eye. The attempt so far has been unsuccessful. The other eye has not responded and to the great regret of her friends, Mrs. Clark is practically sightless. Only the front half of the eyeball was removed in order that the reaction would not be as great, but it was a severe operation on her, nevertheless.

Dr. Clark, while in Chicago, suffered an attack on the nerves of his right leg which rendered it practically useless for a time. He is recovering somewhat, but still has to walk with a cane.

Mr. and Mrs. James Knetsch had as their guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Vetterich of Mendota.

Miss Helen Leonard of Earlville was here last week caring for her sister, Mrs. Thomas Coffee, who was ill with flu.

A party of St. Paul's Bible class of the Methodist church that was to be held in the church parlors Saturday evening was postponed till next Saturday evening on account of the blizzard.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Topwood and family of Compton, were dinner guests at the Lewis Clemens home Sunday.

Miss Irene Hick of Mendota is spending a few days with her brother, John Hicks and family.

Eastern Star hall was the scene of a gay and jolly time last Thursday evening when Foster Chapter with invited guests assembled for a party.

The hall was filled to capacity. Vocal solos by Mrs. Orla Nangle, John Runyan and Lucille LaPorte opened the program after which the entertainment committee consisting of Mrs. Hazel Mead, Mrs. Dale Rosenkrans and Mrs. Harley Thomas took charge. Games and stunts of all kinds caused much laughter and merriment. Everyone was in a spirit of fun and the games proposed by the committee were in keeping with that spirit. Several side-splitting farce comedies closed the program. A delicious scramble dinner at 6:30 had put everyone in the mood for enjoying the evening. The refreshment committee consisted of Mrs. Carl Rosenkrans, Mrs. Dr. Dickie, with 58.

SOLOMON AND JESUS

"And behold, a greater than Solomon is here."—Luke 11:31. (Read Luke 11:29-36.)

Meditation

Among the heroes of Old Testament story there cannot be found a sharper contrast with Jesus. Whatever Solomon was, Jesus was not. The wisdom of Solomon was the shrewd worldly wisdom that commands a worldly success. The wisdom of Jesus is little concerned with an ephemeral prosperity; it makes deeper soundings of life.

The Beatitudes are paradoxes in praise of adversity. The wisdom of Solomon is the wisdom that men have always coveted. The wisdom of Jesus is the wisdom from which men shrink. So Solomon got a hearing; yet, when successful men speak, people listen; they will go far to hear. The wisdom of Solomon stood the pragmatic test; it worked.

So the Book of Proverbs has been commended as a business manual. How often have we heard that the wisdom of Jesus will not work in the practical affairs of life? Will it work? We have to remember its aims and its promises; for its goal is other than any economic salvation.

It does not promise riches of the purse, but of the heart and mind. It does not promise escape from burdens, but strength to bear them; not immunity from perils, but courage to meet them; not exemption from sorrow, but comfort and the cheer of an immortal hope. It promises a refuge of rest in the midst of life's confusion; a mind at peace at the heart of life's storm; a soul no longer hag-ridden by selfish passions, but serenely victorious. Does it stand the pragmatic test?

"Saints, apostles, prophets, martyrs. Answer, Yes."

Prayer

"O Almighty God who alone canst order the unruly wills and affections of sinful men, grant unto Thy people that they may love the thing which Thou commandest and desire that which Thou dost promise; that so among the sundry and manifold changes of the world, our hearts may surely there be fixed where true joys are to be found. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

MODERN METHODS BRING AID TO CHILDREN SUFFERING FROM TUBERCULOSIS OF THE BONES

For years the impression has prevailed that sunlight is of great advantage in tuberculosis.

More than 100 years ago it was customary for people with tuberculosis in Great Britain to go to the sunny sections of France and Italy in order to prolong their lives.

Within the present quarter of a century, Dr. A. Rolier of Switzerland established definitely the advantage of sunlight and outdoor air in the treatment of tuberculosis of the bones and joints.

Recently, investigators have been checking the effects of the climate, and now Sir Henry Gauvain claims that it is possible to get just as good results in tuberculosis of the bones and joints in England as in the sunny Swiss Alps.

Apparently it is not so much the continuous exposure to the sun that is important as the stimulus to the production of the heat by the body as the result of exposure to outdoor air combined with sunlight, at least for some portion of the day.

One of the hospitals in England devoted particularly to the care of tuberculosis of the bones and joints in children has just made a report indicating that results were secured in England just as good as those secured by Rolier in Switzerland.

As part of the treatment, patients are given graduated sea bathing and outdoor sunlight, and if outdoor sunlight is not available, they are given treatment with artificial sources of ultra-violet rays. In addition, the patients are submitted to the stimulus of climatic change and, of course, they get the benefit of change of environment.

Moreover, the period in the hospital is used to teach these patients various handicrafts and occupations and the opportunity is used to give them the advantage of modern reconstructive and plastic surgery in order to improve the functional action of the crippled limbs.

Such surgery employs both grafts and the transfer of skin, which, when performed by competent masters of the surgical art, yields excellent results. Among cases treated in the British hospital there were 34 cases of spinal disease, 52 of disease of the hip, 21 of disease of the knee and 69 of tuberculosis in other parts of the body.

The study of this condition has been persistent, and today the child with tuberculosis of the bones or joints has a considerable opportunity of securing a satisfactory cure of his condition and sufficient function to practice a useful means of securing a livelihood.

SATURDAY EVE

Will Go To Moline For The Sectional Contests This Week End

By ROBERT KENNEDY

Saturday afternoon saw the elimination of two more contestants for the District Trophy when Sterling beat Tampico, 37-19, and Rock Falls beat Hoople, 21-14. In the Sterling-Tampico game the score was 16-11 at the half. Schuneman was fouled by Anderson and he made the extra point. This was Anderson's fourth personal and he was forced to leave the game. Davis replacing him. Taylor and Hendricks made 16 of Sterling's 37 points with only one foul on each of them. As the end of the third quarter came around, D. C. Austin, center, became very interested in watching the sidelines next to him, and all the while keeping his eye on the watch. His sporty instinct told him that wild game was near, and sure enough, as the minute hand crept closer to 60, there was a rustling under the bleachers and out jumped a rabbit. Austin promptly bagged him. With three minutes left in the last quarter, Sterling sent in Weaver, Baer, Bley, Powell, and Hendricks for Hendricks. Taylor, Schuneman, Moore and Terhune. Weaver made one more point for Sterling before the game ended.

Rock Falls vs. Hoople

Hoople's hopes of reaching the finals were shattered when they clashed with Rock Falls. They came out of the game on the small end with the score 14-21 against them. The score was rather close at the end of the third quarter 13-11 but Hoople increased their lead to 21-14 by the end of the last half when he made his last foul a double against Mathis. He stayed in to make his basket.

THE OLD COUNSELLOR'S COLUMN

The Motion Picture Industry

ARTICLE I.
An industry that sells its product every week to nearly as many customers as there are people in the United States must rest upon a solid foundation. The motion picture industry is such an industry. It has indeed forged far ahead in the quarter-century that has elapsed since a twenty-minute feature film entitled "The Great Train Robbery" made a sensation in the first nickelodeon in Pittsburgh.

The fast pace of our twentieth century has made the movies almost a necessity. Our need for relaxation partly accounts for the progress of this vast business. In part, it explains why the earnings of principal factors in the motion picture industry have been so well sustained during the past year. During periods of prosperity, people go to the movies to relax from excessive work and activity—during periods of depression, motion pictures help to banish worries. People with less work on their hands seek amusement in this economical and satisfactory form of entertainment.

Today, the motion picture industry is a soundly managed enterprise resting upon an essential need of modern life. It is a vast business handling the production, distribution and exhibition of films. It represents an investment generally conceded to aggregate around two billion dollars. Here are a few figures that may make clear to you the magnitude and importance of this industry in the business fabric of the Nation.

The average weekly attendance at motion picture theatres in the United States during 1929 was estimated at 115 million. The number of motion picture theatres in this country is well over twenty thousand, and their seating capacity is something over eleven million. American producers, who supply about eighty-five per cent of all the films used throughout the world, spend around 125 million dollars a year in the production of pictures alone. It is estimated, also, that the industry as a whole has spent as high as 100 million dollars a year for advertising. So large an industry cannot be overlooked in any appraisal of the general business situation.

It has been particularly interesting to follow the performance of the motion picture business during the past year. During November and December of 1929—the two months immediately following the collapse of the stock market—attendance at the motion picture theatres exceeded all previous records. The first quarter of 1930 also saw good attendance. With the coming of summer, however, there was some falling off of patronage. This was partly seasonal, though the severity of hot weather made it perhaps worse than is usually the case. It was also due partly to the fact that talking pictures had lost some of their novelty. The public, in other words, had ceased to be so much interested in talking pictures for their own sake, and had begun to select pictures more carefully on the basis of their merit. With the beginning of fall, there was again a marked improvement in attendance.

ket and was replaced by DePuy. Corzette fouled Hogge and the latter made one point. Knox went in for DePuy and DePuy took Corzette's place a few minutes later the game ended 21-14.

Evening Games

Saturday night at seven-thirty the losers of the afternoon games played for third place. The game was close and was tied until well into the second half when Tampico took the lead. Hoople called time out after four minutes in the second quarter. Pratt went in for Larson for Tampico and Salzman fouled Peterson who made his point. Hendrick sank a basket for Hoople and Anderson evening the score by repeating. Hendrick fell over Anderson and a foul was called on him. Anderson failed to make the extra point and the half ended 7-7. Mathis and Hendrick each made a basket and the first of scoring was done by Tampico. Hoople called time out 20 seconds before the end of the third quarter and there was only time for two jumps at center. Hoople had three more free throws but failed to make any of them. Tampico added 15 points to her 7 and the game ended 22-11.

Final

The victors in the afternoon games clashed at eight-thirty and the playing was so fast and aggressive that it was three minutes before any scoring was done and then Hendrick sank a long one for Sterling. He fouled Yeager and the latter was given two free-throws. He made one of them and Taylor sank another basket for Sterling. Rock Falls took time out but came back and Hunsberger sank a long shot from the edge of the floor. Moore sank a long and Hendricks hacked Yeager in an attempt for the basket. Yeager missed both free-throws. He fouled Schuneman and Sterling's score was raised another point as the ball fell through the hoop. The quarter ended with the score 3-7 in Sterling's favor. At the start of the second quarter Callaghan sank two long shots which evened the score. Rock Falls took time out again. Corzette fouled Schuneman, who made the free-throw and Shorts fouled Taylor but the latter was not able to make the extra point. Moore fouled Callaghan but the free-throw was not made. Hunsberger fouled Hendricks and he too missed the extra point. Hendricks then sank another basket. Shorts fouled Taylor and then Taylor fouled Shorts. Taylor made his and Shorts missed him free-throw. As the half ended Hunsberger turned his ankle and was helped off the floor. The score stood 11-7.

Second Half

Hunsberger and Callaghan each sank a basket at the beginning of the second half, tying the score. Sterling took time out. Hendricks sank two baskets and Schuneman fouled by Corzette added two more points to Sterling's score. Rock Falls took time out again. Hunsberger fouled Terhune twice who made his extra point both times. Schuneman made a basket and the third quarter ended 21-11. Hendricks made another basket for Sterling and Callaghan made one for Rock Falls. Hunsberger and Shorts each had a free-throw but both missed. Sterling took time out. Hendricks sank another basket. Six went in for Shorts and Knox went in for Hunsberger. Callaghan made two more points for Rock Falls. Terhune and Schuneman made two more baskets. Baer, Bley, Woodyatt and Weaver, and Powell replaced the first team for the last few minutes the final score was 31-15.

The officials chose the following players as the first and second string all-star tournament teams:
First Team—Hendricks, Sterling (f); Hunsberger, Rock Falls (f); Mathis, Hoople (c); Schuneman, Sterling (g); O. Yeager, Rock Falls (g).

STORM PREVENTED FINALS IN SOME H. S. TOURNAMENTS

Games Will Be Completed Tonight and Tomorrow Evening

Chicago, March 9.—(AP)—If the weather permits, a dozen Illinois high school district basketball tournaments will be finished either tonight or tomorrow night.

A blizzard and impassable roads threw the schedule out of step last week-end, leaving the Greenfield Gibson City, Pekin, Sreator, Roseville, East Peoria, Petersburg, Lincoln, Rushville Quincy, Carthage and Decatur districts with the business of finishing up just about in time to start play in the sectionals which open at eight centers Wednesday.

At West Palm Beach, Fla.—St. Louis (A) 13; House of David 1.
At Dallas, Texas—Dallas 8; New York (N) 7.

At St. Petersburg, Fla.—Boston (N) 9; New York (A) 7.

At Miami, Fla.—Philadelphia (A) 7; St. Louis (N) 5.

At Paso Robles—Pittsburgh (N) 10; San Francisco 7.
At Avalon, Cal.—Chicago (N) 12; Los Angeles 1.
At Houston, Texas—Chicago (A) 13; Houston 3.

Today's Schedule

At St. Petersburg, Fla.—Brooklyn (N) vs Boston (N).
At Ft. Myers, Fla.—Philadelphia (A) vs House of David.
West Palm Beach, Fla., Mar. 9.—(AP)—Manager Bill Killefer, of the St. Louis Browns, today expressed satisfaction over the performance of his "Pony" infield in yesterday's triumph over the House of David team. Gillefer started Burns, Storti, Levey and Kress and all of them performed well. Levey's fielding being especially brilliant. The Browns engage a Palm Beach team in a practice game today, the proceeds to go to charity.

Fort Myers, Fla., Mar. 9.—(AP)—Gaby Street, who has been counting on his veteran hurlers to carry the Cardinals to another National League pennant, wore a broad smile today, because of a rookie. Paul Derringer, up from the International League, did so well against the Athletics at Milwaukee yesterday that Gaby's confidence in this year's work came from a good arm. Not an Athletic reached first base against Derringer in three innings. The same teams meet here today.

Avalon, Cal., Mar. 9.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs think they are going to be extremely glad they got Pittsburgh's Bob Smith from the Boston Braves and they are happy over what promises to be a good year for Charlie Root.

Smith pitched five innings of a 12 to 1 victory over Los Angeles yesterday, and gave up two hits. Root finished the game and permitted three well spaced singles and fanned five batters. Manager Rogers Hornsby had his charges lined up for a game with a team of actors headed by Joe Brown today.

San Antonio, Tex., Mar. 9.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox were back in San Antonio today to resume practice after splitting a pair of games with Houston of the Texas League Saturday Sunday.

The Sox were not so hot Saturday, but bounced back yesterday aided by some good pitching by Pat Caraway, Jim Moore and Johnny Intlekofer, and won, 13 to 3.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 8.

The Golden Text was, "The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord; and he delighteth in his way" (Psalms 37:23).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the Lord" (Psalms 1:1, 2).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "So far as the scientific statement as to man is understood, it can be proved and will bring to light the true reflection of God—the real man, or the new man (as St. Paul has it)" (p. 300).

ILLINOIS RELAY SATURDAY WILL SEE MANY STARS

Midwest, South, East To Be Represented In Indoor Meet

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
Associated Press Sports Writer
Champaign, Ill., Mar. 9.—(AP)—Track and field stars from the midwest, south and east will come to Champaign next Saturday to continue their attack on records in the fourteenth renewal of the University of Illinois relay carnival.

The event, one of the classics of the indoor season, will include four relays for universities, the pole mile, two mile, medley and four mile; a mile relay, medley and two mile event for colleges, and an open 320-yard high hurdle shuttle relay. Special events are the 75-yard dash, 75-yard high and low hurdles, 300-yard dash, 1,000 yard run, 1,500 meters run, broad jump, high jump, pole vault and shotput.

One of the most attractive events will be the all-around championship largely because Pennsylvania's great Barney Berlinger will attempt to win for the third straight year. Berlinger last year set a record of 6,070 points and with competition is figured capable of establishing a mark that will stand for a long time. Several events are included in the all-around: the 75 yard dash, 75-yard high hurdles, shot put, pole vault, high jump, broad jump and 880-yard run—a thorough test.

Missouri's mile relay team, with two veterans back, will defend its title, and Notre Dame's two mile team is favored to repeat its triumph of last year. Alex Wilson, Canadian Olympic man, Brant Little, Joe Quigley, and either Regis Kuhn or Seaton, the slowest of whom, will represent the Irish in the event.

The university medley relay title will be defended by Marquette, and Pittsburgh, Kas. State Teachers will strive to repeat in the college mile and two mile relays. Michigan State Normal, Ypsilanti, Mich., will be back for the medley race.

All the point winners in the Western Conference indoor championships last Saturday night, are entered headed by Michigan's title winner, Eddie Tolan is expected to give the Wolverines a victory in the 75-yard dash, and Perry Austin will renew rivalry with the Indiana distance runners in the 1,500 meter. Lee Sentman, Illinois' crack hurdler, and Jack Keller, the Ohio State sophomore, will meet in the 75-yard high hurdles for the third time of the season, to settle their dispute. Each has a victory, Keller in a dual meet, and Sentman in the Big Ten indoor meet.

Verne McDermott of Illinois, who has done 13 feet, 9 1/4 inches in the pole vault, will try to reach 14 feet, 2 inches, for a new world record, and may find competition enough in Tom Warne of North-western, and Henry Canby of Iowa, regain their last year's form.

MAD MARRIAGE

by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

Author of 'HEART HUNGRY', etc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GYPSY McBRIDE, 19-year-old triplet, goes to meet the boat which is bringing ALAN CROSBY home from a year and a half of studying art in Paris. The couple are not engaged but there has been an understanding between them.

On the pier the girl sees a beautiful woman waving to Crosby. He says her name is MRS. LANGLEY and that she is a casual ship acquaintance. The couple drive to MRS. O'HARE'S rooming house where a celebration honoring the young artist has been prepared just as the dinner is to be served. Crosby makes a telephone call and returns to say he must leave immediately. He goes to Mrs. Langley's lavish apartment and agrees to attend a dinner party with her. It is evident that Crosby is deeply attracted by the beautiful divorcee. Gypsy attends a gloomily evening alone. Next morning as she is going up the stairs Crosby calls to her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IV

GYPSY came down the stairs one step. "What do you want?" she asked.

Crosby stood in the doorway, both hands on his hips. His dark hair was tousled as usual and his eyes looked sleepy.

"Now is that the way to speak to an old friend who's been banished from God's country for 40 years?" he chided. "Gypsy, my child, where are your manners?"

It was impossible not to respond to that good-natured grin. Gypsy smiled, came down the two remaining steps.

"Beg pardon, my lord!" she said with mock humility. "I'll see that it doesn't happen again, my lord!" She dropped a deep curtsy.

Crosby laughed. "Impudent little upstart!" he scolded. "By George, Gypsy, you're looking pretty this morning. Say—I've got a lot of things to talk to you about. Have you got anything to do right now? What do you say we brave the elements? Take me out and show me the town. I want to take a long walk the way we used to."

"Where'll we go?"

"Anywhere. Have they still got the Battery?"

"The girl nodded.

"And the Bronx Zoo?"

"Another nod.

"And Riverside Drive?"

"All three."

"Then let's walk up Fifth Avenue."

It was nonsense but to Gypsy it sounded like the world's most scintillating wit.

"I'd love to!" she said instantly. "Wait—I'll be ready in a minute!" She was wearing her hat and coat. Gypsy had already walked 10 blocks that morning. She ran up the flight to her own room.

From the depths of a tiny closet hung with clothes the girl drew a pair of brown lizard pumps. They were smartly made with short vamps and high Cuban heels. The pumps were obviously new. Gypsy kicked off her worn oxfords and pulled on the pumps. They were flattering to her small feet. She paused before the dressing table to dab powder on her nose. No need to waste time on rouge—her cheeks were warm with color. A moment before the mirror, patting and poking at the waves of hair which showed beneath the brown beret.

Then she was ready.

"I'm coming!" Gypsy called.

THERE was no one in sight but the door of Crosby's room was open. Through the opening Gypsy caught a glimpse of the young man struggling to get one arm into his overcoat. He heard her, turned and came into the hall.

They went down the stairway laughing. On the first floor Mrs.

"There was a girl who used to come there who made me think of you. Only she wasn't so pretty. It was the way she laughed, I guess, that made me think of you."

O'Hare was disappearing through the door of her private quarters.

"Good morning!" Crosby called gaily. "Want to come along? We're going out to view the metropolis."

Mrs. O'Hare tossed her head in stead of answering. It was meant to indicate disapproval but was unconvincing. Where good-looking Mr. Crosby was concerned the land lady could never quite hold to rules that were arbitrary with other roomers.

The young couple went through the front door and paused before descending the steps. It was nearly noon on one of those bright, rarely warm days that sometimes occur in late February.

Crosby threw back his head. "Why, it's spring!" he said. "This isn't New York in February. It's spring!"
